

The Grim Reaper Claims Devoted Mother and Pioneer Citizen

Death removed one of Coleman's most highly respected pioneers on Monday of this week, when Mrs. Annie Unsworth, widow of the late John Unsworth, passed away in Calgary after a lingering illness, aged 57 years.

The deceased lady suffered a nervous breakdown at the time of her husband's death some sixteen months ago, and despite the best of care and medical assistance she has been gradually failing in health ever since, and the end came peacefully on Monday in a private hospital in Calgary.

The late Mrs. Unsworth, one of the pioneer citizens of Coleman, came here in 1905 and during her twenty years residence had endeared herself to every person who had the pleasure of her acquaintance over this long period. She was of a kindly home loving disposition, ever ready and eager to give help to others in time of stress or need, and many a mother in Coleman will ever cherish her memory for the countless acts of kindness and devotion in their hour of trial and sickness.

The immediate mourners are a son, Mr. P. L. Unsworth, Coleman, and a sister, Mrs. Harry Smith, Drumheller, besides a host of intimate friends in the town and district, to all of whom the sincerest sympathy goes out in this their hour of trial.

The remains, accompanied by Mr. P. L. Unsworth, were brought to Coleman on Tuesday train, and the funeral takes place on Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. from the family residence, Main street, interment in the Union cemetery.

Runs Splendid Race

Fred Leen, Coleman's long distance speed artist, came within inches of duplicating his twice repeated success of winning the Lethbridge three mile road race on Thanksgiving day. According to those from Coleman who witnessed the finish of the race, Freddie might have won again this year and become permanent owner of the handsome trophy had the course been roped at the finishing mark and the crowd kept back, as the start he made during the last few yards was sufficient to pass the winner provided the spectators had been kept off the course. However, winning the cup in 1923 and 1924 and securing second in 1925 is a splendid record and one in which his many friends in Coleman will rightfully feel proud.

Things of Beauty

A country road, winding over a hill, drenched in the pure light of dawn. A diamond flash. Trees bending before the darkening storm, lashed with the hurt of the rain. A walloping over the scorchboard.

A group of stately elms, new-clothed in April's first brilliant emerald.

A tall one on a hot afternoon. A purple sunset rimmed with crimson.

A bounding sales-curve.

A delicate form of a perfectly proportioned woman.

A tall blonde with a stack of hats. The uprune grandeur of a distant snow-capped peak, pendant like a jewel in the blue sky.

A fat bank balance.

It depends on what you like.

Local Curlers Hold General Meeting

Splendid Gathering of Stars and Besom Fraternity—
1925-26 Prospects Bright—
—Ready For Big Spiel

Coleman curlers turned out en masse to attend the general meeting of the Coleman Curling Club held in the Council chambers on Tuesday evening of this week, and the enthusiasm displayed was on a par with the attendance.

President H. C. McBurney was in the chair and Secretary J. F. Leir read the minutes of the last general meeting.

The question of club fees was the first matter up for discussion and upon a vote being taken it was decided to set the 1925-26 fee at $12, and all members must pay due to the Secretary not later than January 15th, otherwise they will come to the members of the club.

It was decided to send out prospective cards to all questioners asking if they intend joining the club. These cards are to be returned to the club at an early date, in order that a committee appointed to choose skips may know how many skips are required. After the names of the club and skips chosen, the skips will then select their rinks, and in this way every curler who desires to curl will be on a rink.

A new policy is to be adopted this season in regard to club rinks playing for the Burn's Cup. Rink skips must submit their list of players to the executive for their approval.

The president stated that prospects looked very bright for new members this year, and expressed the belief that the 1925-26 curling season would prove to be a banner year for the local club.

The question of the Crown's Next Pass Bouspiel which is to be held in Coleman in January, came up for discussion, and it was pointed out that the executive committee of the local club had already been busy on this matter and things were well in hand. The question of hotel accommodation was the only difficulty likely to be met with, and it was suggested that this can be overcome by billeting some of the visiting curlers in private homes.

On Tuesday evening the G.W.V.A. had an interesting illustrated lecture on the Great War by the priest-in-charge of St. Alban's Church, "O Canada" opened the proceedings and some fine pictures were shown interspersed with Bainsfather's famous cartoons. Community songs and "The King" were enthusiastically sung.

This lecture will be repeated at St. Alban's Parish Hall on Friday evening of this week at 8 p. m. All Patriots are invited. The proceeds will be given to the Disabled Veteran's Poppy Relief Fund.

Honor in Business

There is an honor in business that is the fine gold of it; that reckons with every man justly; that loves light; that regards kindness and fairness more highly than goods or prices or profits. It becomes a man more than his furnishings or his house. It speaks for him in the heart of everyone. His friendships are serene and secure. —Harry Wadsworth Longfellow.

It can hardly be deemed in the interest of amateur sport to ask young boys like Mickey Brennan, George Graham, etc., to compete on the ice against an old pro like Doc Barbour, Big Jim Hanson, and M. Pruden, etc. Coleman would need to have a double shift of nurses working at the local hospital after each game.

"Old Crow" of Blairmore, is writing a lot of propaganda hockey dope and sending it to the Herald, where it is appearing under the heading of "Sparklets from the Crow League." The Journal is of the opinion that this is the same "Old Bird" that had so much to say, in a very uncomplimentary tone, about Coleman's poor sportsmanship at the time of the "Ran-dock Series" last winter. The "Old Bird" then warbled a "song of hate," but now is singing a siren song to Coleman hockey fans. Incoherence in his name is C.H.A.P. P. K. L. L.

U. C. Thanksgiving Services Well Attended

Special Services on Sunday,
November 15th, Visiting Di-vines to Speak on United Church

The Thanksgiving Services of the United Church were most interesting, instructive and edifying. Both services being well attended.

In the morning the children rendered their programme exceeding well. The choruses were sweetly sung. The recitations were clearly spoken and most appropriate.

The congregation entered heartily into the whole service. The pastor gave a short address from the text "The Fruit of Our Life."

The evening service was appropriate to the theme of Thanksgiving. The pastor was assisted by Mr. Eric Munaster, vice-principal of the Blairmore school. Mr. Munaster took the first part of the service.

The Rev. Allan gave an inspiring and practical address on "Our Heritage and Our Task."

Mr. Lewis Jones sang two appropriate solos.

Next Sunday, November 15th, two special speakers are to occupy the United Church pulpit:—the Rev. J. T. Ferguson, D. D. and the Rev. Capt. A. J. Brace of China. Both speakers will bring the message and Mission of the United Church in Canada.

On June 10th the three great Churches in Canada—the Congregational, Methodist and the Presbyterian—were made one by consent and consecration. All interested in the religious life of our Dominion ought to hear what these Ministers have to say as to the work of this great Canadian Church.

Very Impressive

Funeral Service

The funeral of the late Florence Locke, beloved wife of Percy Locke and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hopkins, Sr. took place on Sunday afternoon last.

Services were held in St. Alban's Church which was not large enough to contain all those desiring to pay their last respects to the deceased. The Rev. L. H. Noble, had charge of the impressive service. The choir sang as an opening hymn, "Aberystwyth" by Dr. Perry, after which prayers and Psalms were read, followed by the well known hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee."

The remains were then taken to the Union cemetery for interment in the family plot, and the Pythian Sisters and Rebekah Lodges conducted their burial service.

The chief mourners were:—Mr. Percy Locke, Mr. and Mrs. John Hopkins, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hopkins, William Hopkins, Mr. George Phillips, Mr. Racott, Mr. Harold Chamberlain. The pall bearers were:—Messrs. Robt. Jones, Thomas, George Morgan, Wm. Ross, Harry Lane and William Lane.

Many beautiful floral tributes from members of the family, intimate friends and lodges covered the coffin, and bore mute testimony to the high regard in which the deceased lady was held in the community.

G.W.V.A. Fittingly Observe Occasion

The local G.W.V.A. kept Armistice Day by attending St. Alban's Church where a fine service was held. The opening hymn, "O God, our help in ages past," was followed by a scriptural reading and address by the pastor, Rev. L. H. Noble, of the 74th Batt. C.E.F.

At the close of the service in the church those in attendance marched to the cemetery where a short service was held, wreaths of poppies placed on graves of departed soldiers, and "The Last Post" sounded.

He Pinned His Hopes To Hon. Arthur Meighen

For the past ten years I have been employed as a dining car steward, and the following story is the best I have heard during my railroad career.

A short while ago while on my run from Toronto to Windsor, I had the pleasure to have as guests in my dining car Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, and Mr. A. Ellis, Canada's official biographer.

Mr. Ellis wished to meet the Hon. Arthur, so I introduced them. After they had finished their conversation I asked Mr. Ellis how his health was, and also in a joking manner asked him how business was getting along in his line. His reply was as follows: "Well, business is pretty bad at present, but I think it will pick up should there be a change of government." —E. R. H.

Lost Hunters Found, Without Food For Three Days.

Two residents of West Coleman, Messrs. Joe Maunell and Louis Pa-lack, left their homes early Monday morning for a day's hunting in the neighborhood of Crow's Nest mountain, but they failed to return that night or the following day, their relatives and friends became anxious and notified the authorities. Search parties were organized and scoured the country where missing men were supposed to have gone, but no trace of them was discovered.

Thursday morning additional parties in charge of Forest Ranger H. Boulton left town in cars for the base of the Crow, and found them about 10:30 a. m. coming down from the headquarters of McGillivray Creek. They had been wandering around Victor Creek, which leads into the Race Horse river, for three days endeavoring to find their way out and eventually had back tracked and arrived at McGillivray Creek. From early Monday morning until Thursday they had only had two sandwiches to eat and slept out in the open at night and were in a very weakened condition from their harrowing experience.

Animals Called Yins

The Duchess of Sutherland told an amusing story recently concerning a little English girl who, during her first visit to Scotland, made friends with a Highland lassie of about her own age at a well known seaside resort.

Presently she came running to her mother and, proudly exhibiting the contents of her pal, said: "Look, mum! Here's a lot of yins."

"Yins, dear? Why, whatever do you mean?" exclaimed her mother. "These are crabs—little baby crabs."

"Well, mum," insisted the child, "the little girl who helped me to catch them called them yins. Every time she saw one she said: 'There's another yin!'"

SYNOPSIS

Nepesee, daughter of Pierrot, the trapper, took Baree, the wolf-dog, into the woods and the two spent the night there. Baree was still untamed, but the girl was determined to make a pet of him. Nepesee was quarter-Indian, and in a few days she was in her veins. Baree was a wild, red-haired, red-eyed, and her father had brought her ribbons for her hair, real shoes and material for a new dress. McDonald, the government map-maker, arriving, took photographs of the girl in her birthday finery.

It was late in August when Baree saw the first of his kind outside of Kazan and Gray Wolf. During the summer Pierrot allowed his dogs to run at large on a small island in the centre of a lake two or three miles away, and twice a week he herded fish for them. On one of these occasions Nepesee accompanied him and took Baree with her. Pierrot carried his heavy caribou gut whip. He expected a fight. But there was none. Baree joined the pack in their race for fish, and ate with them. This pleased Pierrot more than ever.

"He will make a great sled-dog," he chuckled. "It is best to leave him for a week with the pack, my Nepesee."

Reluctantly Nepesee gave her consent. While the dogs were still at their fish, they started home. Their canoe had stolen well out before Baree discovered the trick they had played on him. Instantly he leaped into the water and swam after them, and the Willow helped him into the canoe.

Early in September a passing Indian brought Pierrot word that MacTaggart, the Factor had been very sick. He had almost died from the blood-poison, but he was well now. With the first exhilarating taint of autumn in the air a new dread oppressed Pierrot. But at present he said nothing of what was in his mind to Nepesee. The Willow had almost forgotten the Factor from Lac Bain, for the story and thrill of wilderness autumn was in her blood. She went on long trips with Pierrot, helping him to blaze out the new trap lines that would be used when the first snow came, and on these journeys she was always accompanied by Baree.

"By midwinter I will have him the finest dog in the pack, mon pere!" This was the time for Pierrot to say what was in his mind. He smiled.

"I am going to send you down to the school at Nelson House again this winter, ma cherie," he said. "Baree will take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people I know and have told them the good it had done me. I know I feel and look a different woman these few months, and I certainly would not be without a bottle of your medicine in the house. You can use this letter as you see fit, as I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have to know what it had done for me."—Mrs. Royce C. MacTaggart, R. R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario.

A recent census of women users of the Vegetable Compound reports 95 out of 100 received beneficial results. This is a remarkable proof of its merit. C.

NERVES AND FAINTING SPELLS

Sent Woman to Bed. Great Change After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sarnia, Ontario.—"After my girl was born I was a wreck. My nerves were so terrible for weeks and I simply could not stand or walk without pain. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer able to do my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation, but I was not in the condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' I am sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills." So I was advised to have her try it after I told him about it. I am very thankful to say that I was soon able to take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people I know and have told them the good it had done me. SPOON MEDICAL CO. DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Along with the bustle and stir of the beginning of the trapping season, MacTaggart began to prepare his house for the coming of Nepesee. He knew what she liked in the way of cleanliness and a few other things. He had the walls painted white with the lead and oil that were intended for his York boats. Certain partitions were torn down, and new ones were built; the Indian wife of his chief runner made curtains for the windows, and he confiscated a small photograph that should have gone on to Lac la Poudre. He had no doubts, and he counted the days as they passed.

Down on the Gray Loon, Pierrot and Nepesee were busy at many things, so busy that at times Pierrot's fears of the Factor at Lac Bain were forgotten, and they went out of the Willow's mind entirely. It was the Red Moon, and it thrilled with the anticipation and excitement of the winter hunt. Nepesee carefully dipped a hundred times in boiling, carbon-fall, mixed with beaver grease, while Pierrot made fresh dead-falls ready for setting on his trails. When he was gone, she was always with his back standing up like a brush. Had one of the other dogs done this, Pierrot would have killed him. It would have been cruelty, and the man must be master. But Baree was always safe. A touch of the Willow's hand, a word from her lips, and the great slowly settled and the snarl went out of his throat.

Pierrot was not at all displeased. "Heu! I will never go so far as to try and whip that out of him," he told himself. "He is a barbarian—a wild beast—and her slave."

So it came, through Pierrot himself—and without telling his reason for it—that Baree did not become a sled-dog. He was allowed his freedom, and he never did, like the others, Nepesee was glad, but did not guess the thought that was in Pierrot's mind. To himself Pierrot chuckled. She would never know why he kept Baree always suspicious of him, even to the point of hating him. It required considerable skill and cunning on his part. With himself he reasoned:

"If I make him hate me, he will hate all men. My-oh! That is good."

So he looked into the future—for Nepesee.

Man's Color Depends on Salt

Scientist Tells Why Races Are White, Yellow, Brown and Black

An eminent scientist, speaking of the significance of common salt, states that one's color is dependent upon salt. "If your ancestors ate much salt," he says, "they were white. If they ate little salt, they were yellow. In Northern Europe, for example, where there has always been an unlimited supply of salt, the inhabitants are white. In China, Greenland, Korea and India, where salt is scarce, the people are yellow. On the plains of America and the Malay Peninsula, where the lack of good transportation makes salt difficult to get, men are brown. Finally, in West and Central Africa, in many sections in which is actually unknown, man is black."

Pastimes Of Wise Men

Skipping Pebbles Has Fascination For Famous Writers

Though playing ducks and drakes on the seashore can hardly be deemed an intellectual pastime, it seems to have a peculiar fascination for men of letters. A friend who spent a week with Alfred de Musset on the Brittany coast complained that the poet spent almost the whole time trying to sink pebbles across the waves, and Mr. Lewis Hind tells of a whole afternoon which he and Joseph Conrad and H. G. Wells spent on the beach at Sandgate engrossed in the same pursuit.

Prince of Wales Must Study

Should Consider Seriously His Life's Work Says King George

His Majesty says the Prince of Wales must go back to school on his return from his South American tour. The King has decided the time has come for the Prince to study seriously the work he will have to do when he takes the throne. With this thought in mind, the King has prepared a very definite course of instruction for the Prince. The Prince's education at Oxford was interrupted by the war and his travels abroad, on diplomatic missions, have not permitted him to do a great deal of studying. It is admitted that at times he shows his education is not all that is besting one of the most successful of the British throne. Economics, civil government, history and legal procedure are subjects in the curriculum the King has laid down for the Prince.

ARE THERE TOO MANY BOOKS?

In answer to the question of whether there are too many books, one might properly say "Yes," or with equal consistency say "No." Insofar as books have to do with the intellectual development of man, it is not a question of how many books he reads, but of how wisely he selects and how well he reads what he has selected.

When the great number bewilders the chooser and causes him to skip through without getting all there is out of them then there are too many books. But when one develops a passion for the mastery of a definite subject that is worthwhile, he finds to his dismay that there are entirely too few books.

THE REWARD OF DOING.

When we are engaged in work that offers no specific monetary reward, often we are confronted with the thought that we shall never be rewarded for the effort. Then after a time, something happens that seems to echo back to us the benefits of our labor. It may be a crippled child brought back to normal bodily activity; or the establishment of an institution whose objects are altruistic and elevating to mankind. But for every good work we are rewarded sometime and in some manner. As the lever has lifting power in proportion to the length of its lifting arm and the position of its fulcrum, so has man the ability to accomplish good works in proportion to his breadth of vision and the application of his talents to the job in hand. The mere satisfaction of a job completed is itself a rich dividend. The thrill of a problem solved is genuine pay. Well-doing is its own reward.

Now that the countries in Europe have their heads together it will be harder to kick one another.

Get busy! November has only 30 days!

To bring the Arctic within the scope of tourist traffic is the object of the Marquis M. N. de la Rivière, winter sports director at Lake Placid, who is organizing pack horse trips of thirty days' duration next year from the Canadian Pacific Rockies as far north as the Columbia Ice Fields within the Arctic Circle. "We are going to swim our horses and outfit across the Saskatchewan River and camp near the sources of the Athabasca which empties into Great Slave Lake and thence into the Arctic," the Marquis asserts. The first of these trips is scheduled between June 28 and July 27 next year.

Here and There

Major-General Sir Fabian Ware, vice-chairman of the Imperial War Graves Commission, who has been visiting in Canada during October has been recalled to England much earlier than he expected. Prior to sailing on the Canadian Pacific liner, Montclair, from Montreal, he expressed the hope that he would be able to come to Canada again next spring so that he could give Canadians in the West some idea of what the Imperial Commission is doing in caring for the graves of western youths who perished during the war.

Robert L. Rice, Jr., of Boston, and J. Y. Cole, of Harvard, took big chances when they attempted to travel by canoe from Rouyn to Antlers at the end of October. Although they started in beautiful Indian summer weather they ran within a few hours into a bad storm which filled their canoe with half melted snow and almost froze them to unconsciousness. Fortunately they arrived in the nick of time at a fire-ranger's hut where they stayed a few days until the storm abated. They were prospecting in the neighborhood and were none the wiser for their perilous trip when they finally reached Montreal.

Bob Shawkey, New York Yankee veteran pitcher, who organized the party of major league baseball players now hunting big game in New Brunswick, shot a moose with antlers spreading 56 inches and having 28 points, according to word received at Fredericton, N.B. Shawkey shot his moose the first day the party spent in the woods. This information is conveyed by another party of hunters who passed the camp of the fall players at Nepisiqui Lakes. In the group are some of the best known players in the American League, Eddie Collins, Babe Ruth and Muddy Ruel being among them.

The romance of a world cruise culminated in New York City recently when Dorothy Holmes O'Ryan, daughter of Major-General and Mrs. John F. O'Ryan, of New York, married Darwin Curtis, of Chicago. The couple met for the first time a year ago on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France which was then making a tour of the world. It is interesting to note that the marriage was performed by the Rev. Father Francis P. Duffy, chaplain of the "Fighting Sixty-ninth," a regiment commanded by the bride's father during the war.

Tide of Christmas Traffic Flows East

1.—Typical Christmas scene in Montreal. 2.—Finish of Eastern Dog Derby in Quebec. 3.—Riding and Ski-ing in Winter.

Ever since that time, some years ago now, when the West was discovered by the East as the most likely place to amass a fortune in the briefest possible time, and the simple words, "Go West, young man!" were the best advice a parent could give a son; well, ever since that time, the young man who heeded the advice has been coming back East at least once a year, and that once is generally Christmas.

Perhaps the young man has amassed no great fortune; perhaps he has; and perhaps again he has fared rather ill; but in any event he usually finds that as Christmas draws near, recollections of his childhood, his Christmas stocking, the tree at home, the plum pudding or the turkey and cranberries, constitute too powerful a memory to negate. And because these recollections are so potent, transportation companies operate special services to handle what they call the "Christmas traffic."

This year the crop has been extremely good; money will be more free in the West than for some time past. The season's work is done and the Westerner will have lots of time on his hands. If he has few financial worries he may spend quite some time in the East; there is much to attract him. There is the social life in the big hotels, where all is luxurious comfort; winter sports such as hockey, skiing, skating, sleigh riding and tobogganing to indulge in, or to watch. If he so prefers, he can round off the theatre to make, where he will hear the times that will be discussed at most civilized dinner tables; and if he has brought friend wife, there are the shops to visit, though many a man has found this a costly pastime, more so perhaps, than poker or the races.

However, from every angle, the reason in the East is rich and pleasant. That side of the continent is a magnet for holiday seekers and it is at that particular time that the ancient provinces reclaim their sons, if only for the briefest of visits. This year it will have visitors galore.

The Canadian Pacific Railway announces that many inquiries and requests for reservations have already been made at their agencies throughout western Canada.

This would indicate the likelihood of a huge volume of traffic moving in an easterly direction this December. A portion of it will no doubt move straight through to the British Isles and the Continent, as many settlers are originally from those places. The Canadian Pacific will run special trains from all western centres, connecting directly with their Atlantic lines, sailing from the winter port of Saint John, N.B., to all the larger ports in northern Europe.

Canada's "University in Overalls"

The first calendar, just issued, of the Frontier College, Canada's "university in overalls," tells the manual workers, no matter how far out on the frontier, how they may obtain a university degree and what help is available. For twenty-five years the Frontier College has been taking secondary and advanced education to our outer lines of settlement. It is now prepared, under Dominion Charter, to confer degrees in arts upon those who have the pluck and determination to complete courses.

Inspired by the principle that the worker has a right to education beyond that given in the primary schools, the Frontier College has sent its instructors to the mines, the forests, the fisheries, the outlying settlements and the factories, and has carried on educational work in remote places. University men and students in research departments engage in the same hard manual labor as their fellows by day and achieve success in teaching after working hours. Each year has seen an increasing enrollment of students and instructors, proving that success will follow effort to carry opportunity to the workers when tact and courage are combined with instruction. A little support from a provincial government, here, or from a railroad there, an occasional gift by a corporation or individual; so the Frontier College has built up its courses and its reputation with only the pith of education to stimulate it and no glamour to smooth the steps to Parnassus.

To the man, anywhere in Canada, who works with a craving for knowledge, this calendar, which may be obtained from the College at 67 Yonge Street, Toronto 2, Ontario, brings hope of achieving education with friendly and practicable assistance and, under special conditions, with some financial help in fellowships or prizes. To the ordinary man who takes some interest in practical philanthropic work the calendar is inspiring reading.

The Making of a Virtuosi

You cannot, indeed, always blame a man for skipping over all thought of the trouble which other people have been at to produce what he enjoys. You are not expected to feel an interest in the construction of a locomotive when you buy a first-class ticket, but when you have got anything to do yourself, nothing is more unwise than to ignore the details of the act.

Never allow yourself to turn away in disgust from the dry and vulgar drudgery which is required for the perfection of the noblest work. The conception is brilliant. Your mind warms with enthusiastic haste as it contemplates the object you desire to be fulfilled. You feel the loftiness of the aim; you put your inspiration on the back, and say to yourself, Well done! Not so fast.

You must first tramp many a tedious mile, make many a tiresome blunder, pull to pieces many a days work under your fingers, practice after supper, get up with a headache, and keep your temper; you must bear to be misunderstood, opposed, snubbed and cheated. You must make up your mind to all this, and then crawl patiently through it, before you can say, Well done. The conception is very fine. Your ideas are enlarged, and very creditable to you. Your friends applaud your intention, and walk off apologetic.

Then comes the tug of vulgar work, see the thing is done.

The musician who thrills a nation with his wonderful music, does not become a virtuoso by force of conception, but by the patient acquisition of musical details. Ten thousand tedious trifles attended to, and disappointments borne, go to the making of his triumph. "See the conquering hero come!" is an excellent tune. But before this he has to pore over many manuscripts, and work on vulgar studies after midnight. While you were snoring in a feather bed he has lost his rest, and peered at the music until his eyes ached. With patient brain and cunning finger he has to peel off the outer husks of ignorance and opposition, and sacrifice most amusements, the latter seeming an impossible task for most people. Now, and not till now, has the steady fire of his life burned up in to a triumph, and the people clap their hands at his approach.

Strenuous the great violinist practiced a piece for twenty years before he would play it in public.

Here and There

Wishing farewell and bon voyage to the celebrated writer of the Scarlet Pimpernel, a bouquet of scarlet pimpernels was presented to Baroness Orczy, when she embarked with her husband, Mr. Montagu Barrow, on the S.S. Montclare of the Canadian Pacific line, for England. The presentation was made on behalf of the company by Capt. Geo. Webster and President E. W. Beatty's card was attached. Baroness Orczy came out to Canada to annihilate local colour for a new book, which will be eagerly awaited here.

Motor tourists from the United States brought $150,000,000 in revenue to Canada in 1924, according to estimates of government officials. This sum is equal to a quarter of the value of the Dominion's wheat crop and approximately the value of the annual mining output of Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia combined. More than 2,000,000 American automobiles, it is estimated, have crossed into Canada this fall. They carried in the neighbourhood of 9,000,000 persons, or a number equal to the total population of Canada.

C. B. Foster, passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific, states that the success of the crop in the West this year will make money more free and is bound to stimulate travel between Canada and the Old Country. To handle the expected increased volume of traffic, his company, he states, will run special trains early in December connecting directly with the company's Atlantic liners, sailing from the winter port of Saint John, N.B. These liners sail on dates that are calculated to get passengers home to any point in the British Isles or the near continent in plenty of time for Christmas.

Good reading for Canadian Pacific shareholders is furnished in the September statement of gross earnings, working expenses and net profits. It has been the most favorable month for the company in a long time. The gross earnings were $18,909,871, the greatest shown in any month since October, 1924. Operating expenses were $12,641,482 and the difference between the two, the net profits $6,268,389, an increase of $1,719,978 over the corresponding month of last year. Net earnings for the first three quarters of this year, ending September 30th, is $1,190,000 greater than the 1924 figures, despite a decrease in gross earnings of over four and a half million dollars. This was made possible by the company's policy of rigid economy.

PREMIER KING DECIDES TO MEET PARLIAMENT

OTTAWA.—It is officially announced that Premier King will meet parliament. The House of Commons will be called at the earliest possible date. Premier King's statement reads: "After careful consideration of the constitutional precedents and their bearing upon the situation which has arisen as a result of the general election, the cabinet decided unanimously that it is their constitutional duty to meet parliament at the earliest possible moment, regard being had for the legal requirements with respect to the writs and the official signing of members who have been elected."

"The latest official returns having made it apparent that as a result of the general election held on October 23, no one of the participating political parties will, of itself, have a clear majority in the House of Commons when parliament assembles, it became my duty as prime minister to acquaint His Excellency the Governor-General with the situation and to advise His Excellency as to the course which should be pursued. After several interviews with His Excellency at which the position brought about by the recent general election was fully discussed and all alternatives presented, I have taken the responsibility of advising His Excellency to summon parliament for the earliest practicable date in order to ascertain the attitude of the parliamentary representatives towards the very important question raised by the numerical position of the respective political parties. His Excellency has been pleased to accept this advice."

"In the interval until parliament assembles, it is the intention of the government to refrain from making appointments beyond such as are essential to the proper carrying on of the public business."

"In the present situation, there are three possible courses of procedure, each of which has been carefully considered by the cabinet."

(1) That His Excellency be asked to grant an immediate dissolution of parliament.

(2) That His Excellency be asked to call upon the leader of the largest political group to form a government.

(3) That His Excellency be asked to summon parliament at the earliest practicable date for the purpose aforementioned.

"With respect to an immediate dissolution, it was felt that it was not in the interests of the country to occasion the turmoil and expense of another general election until a new parliament had been afforded an opportunity of giving expression to their views."

Alaskan Volcanoes Active

Five Peaks Are Belching Great Clouds of Smoke

Seattle, Wash.—The entire Alaskan coast, north of the United States, reported today the greatest volcanic activity in the Alaskan peninsula and in the Aleutian Islands since Mount Katmai, on the peninsula 300 miles north of the Aleutians, erupted in 1912.

Five peaks, one of which is Katmai, are heaving dense clouds of smoke which hang over the craters in mushroom-shaped halos.

Prince Thron in Fox Hunt
Leighton Buzzard, Bedfordshire, Eng.—The Prince of Wales has taken his first tumble from horseback since returning to England from his South African and South American journeys. The fall came during an exciting fox hunt when the Prince's horse failed to take an awkward fence. The Prince was unhurt.

B.C. Gains By Seamen's Strike

Says Mining And Agriculture Linked

Deputy Minister of Mines Predicts Mineral Development in Canada

Winnipeg.—"Taking a long-sighted view and having regard to the ever-increasing mineral development with consequent exhaustion in time of the mineral of the older countries, it seems to me that nothing can stop Canada playing a prominent part in the future mineral production of the world," said Charles Cammell, M.L.A., P.R.S.C., federal deputy minister of mines.

Mr. Cammell was the principal speaker at the seventh annual western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Another point stressed by the deputy minister was that the development of the mining industry would inevitably lead to the thorough agricultural development of the country.

Dr. Cammell reviewed the mineral trade of Canada and declared the future would see the United States and the world in general looking to Canada's mineral deposits as the last great source of the world. The world's ever-increasing need of minerals to meet the demand and the gradual exhaustion of Old World sources of supply are factors driving forward the early opening up of Canada's untapped mineral deposits, Dr. Cammell declared.

Subsidy On Coal Rates Urged

Mining Institute Convention Discusses Western Coal Trade

Winnipeg.—The unanimous endorsement of an anti-dumping law against foreign coal, a subsidy on coal rates if no other way of freight reduction is found, and the withdrawal from entry and pooling of all Crown coal lands under a commission to prevent exploitation and wasteful opening up of mines were among the remedies urged at the convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy here.

The Western Coal Trade was the topic for discussion.

Trade Commissioner Howard Stutbury, of Alberta, was among the speakers who strongly favored the anti-dumping. Mr. Stutbury deplored the loosening of regulations which had allowed the opening up of several hundred miles of the "pophole" type mines.

There were 322 mines in Alberta in 1924, producing only a little more than five per cent of the total output, while the remaining 77 had produced the other 95 per cent. Alberta, he said, is being run up with abandoned mines of this type.

Mr. Stutbury believes it would be in the best interests of economy and conservation if many of the mines were consolidated.

Not Building To Churchill

Says C.P.R. Has No Intention of Building Line to Hudson Bay

Winnipeg.—"The company has no intention of building a line to Fort Churchill on the Hudson Bay," declared D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway here, in reply to a report that the C.P.R. planned the construction of a branch through the Pas mineral belt.

A local paper carried the report from its Ottawa correspondent and it said the "ultimate destination of the line would be Fort Churchill."

"There was," said Mr. Coleman, "a survey made of a proposed line from Albert to Herby Lake here, but construction is not contemplated at the present time." Herby Lake is a mining district of Northern Manitoba, near The Pas.

University Students Fined
Toronto.—Twenty-one University of Toronto students have been fined five dollars by the university authorities for participating in a raid on Trinity College residence during which several dormitory residents' effects were driven from their beds by a stream of water from hose pipes.

Captured By Chinese Bandits
Peking.—Information that two American priests are held by bandits at St. John's Island, south of Hong Kong, has been received by the United States legation. It is understood that a United States destroyer and a Chinese ship are proceeding to the island.

N. S. Coal Production
Gloucester, N. S.—Production at the collieries of the British Empire Steel Corporation has reached almost half a million tons during the month of October, a total of 467,735 tons being raised as against 427,122 tons in September.

A Swedish scientist has invented a palm leaf chlorophyll pump with advancing temperature.

Canada's Prestige Abroad Increasing

Great Improvement Noted By President of Labor Congress

Ottawa.—"Canada's prestige is not only being maintained but it is being improved both in League of Nations circles and in the International Labor Office at Geneva, in connection with the league," said Tom Moore, president of the league, on his return from a hurried trip to Geneva to attend the quarterly meeting of the governing body of the International Labor Office.

Apart from considerable activity in housing and railroad work, there does not seem to be any relief in the general unemployment situation in Britain, said the labor leader.

Mr. Moore said he found an active interest among Canadians abroad in the prospects of the general election here. His comment on Canadian news, or lack of it, in British newspapers, however, was that one could almost have been in a foreign country so far as Canada was concerned. The only items he saw were quite inconsequential and conveyed little information.

SAYS WEST WILL BE THE ARBITERS IN NEXT HOUSE

Montreal.—"The people of the west will probably be the arbiters of power" in the next parliament was the opinion expressed here by Henri Bourassa, independent member-elect for Labelle and proprietor of Le Devoir.

In commenting on the election, Mr. Bourassa added:

"We are going more and more towards a government by groups. It is more and more clearly necessary to send to parliament independent deputies. The country needs representatives who are better than blind partisans, people capable of freeing thought from the spirit of party, of looking beyond local or provincial interests."

"As I have said over and over again, I do not mean to be merely the deputy of Labelle. I will support any policy that can facilitate the realization of interests of the west and those of the east. I do not mean to be the man of a province or of a country."

Le Devoir editorially declares that the elections appear merely to have brought to a lead a crisis for which there is as yet no solution.

"The situation," it says, "is singularly epitomized by the fact that the man who is at the head of the largest parliamentary group has not succeeded in securing the election in Quebec of one single personal candidate—with the possible exception of Mr. Perley."

"We are at any rate in the midst of a crisis, with the perspective in a not distant future of a new general election."

"The two outstanding facts of the campaign are probably the extent of the Conservative victory in Ontario with its massive majority, and the almost total failure of the anti-King campaign in our province. In both cases the results surpass the hopes of the voters."

Wives Seek Equity

National Council of Women Want Equal Standing With Men

Detroit, Mich.—Canadian delegates to the meeting of the National Council of Women here, reported a movement sponsored by the national councils for a law which would establish the "equality" of wife with husband regardless of husband's earning capacity. The delegates said that a movement to put such a law on the statute books was under way in several Canadian provinces. A similar law is said to be in effect in Sweden, placing the housewife on an economic and legal basis with the bread-winner.

October Sets Cold Record
Ottawa.—The month just passed has been the coldest October recorded in the last 35 years at the Dominion experimental farm, and it may be that it has been the coldest over a still greater number of years, as this is as far as the records at the farm run.

The mean temperature for the month was 38.9 degrees Fahrenheit against the average of 46.6.

Thornton Bails For England
Montreal.—Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railway, sailed from New York on the ship Mauretania for a brief visit to England.

Sir Henry, while in London, will deal with matters pertaining to the European interests of the Canadian National system, an official statement made at company headquarters announced.

FREE LEGAL AID IS A NECESSITY FOR THE POOR

Montreal.—Difficulties which confront the poor when in need of legal redress were dealt with in an address delivered by G. H. Corbett, secretary director of the Society for the Protection of Women and Children, before a monthly conference on social work.

Mr. Corbett took the stand that under existing conditions the poor cannot get adequate justice before the courts, the reason being court fees and costs, which prohibited access to the courts by the poor, court delays and lawyers' fees.

To protect the poor and to save them from oppression, free legal aid was a necessary step, said Mr. Corbett. The lawyers' fee was a fundamental difficulty, he said, and countless thousands, being unable to pay these sums, were denied justice.

Freedom Of Money Market
British Government to Remove Embargo on Dominion Loans in London

Sheffield, England.—Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, in a speech here announced that the government had decided to remove the embargo on the issue of dominion, colonial and foreign loans in London.

"The old full freedom of the money market will be restored," said the chancellor and the city of London must be responsible for using it wisely and soberly. Over-lending, such as, lending beyond our strength, straining at future credit, lending beyond our savings, will bring its own punishment. It is hoped so far as possible without impairing the freedom of the market, preference will be given to those issues bringing a high proportion of orders for goods to British trade."

Apple Production In Canada

Statistics Show Value of 1925 Crop on Farm of $7,000,000

Ottawa.—In spite of the old adage, "an apple a day keeps the doctor away," Canada's per capita consumption of one of its most prolific products is only one-third of an apple a day.

This and other interesting things about the apple, its growth, cultivation and marketing were told to Ontario Rotarians here by W. T. Macoun, Dominion horticulturist, who is also the official apple tester for the Dominion.

It may not be widely known among Canadians, he said, that the statistics for 1925 show that in Canada 1,735,368 trees were in cultivation, which, averaging 60 trees to an acre, would cover an area of 186,600 acres. In 1925, the apple production was 12,000,000 bushels of apples of all varieties valued on the farm at $7,000,000.

Crime In United States

Graft Is Blamed For Most of Failures in Law Enforcement

Atlantic City, N.J.—More crime is committed each year in the United States than in the remainder of North America, and all of South America and Europe, exclusive of the Balkans and Russia, according to Chief Justice Marshall, of the Ohio supreme court.

The justice was addressing the post of export district of Milan club, and he gave them his opinion that most executives are actually elected on a basis of non-enforcement of law. He blamed direct graft for most of the failures in law enforcement.

Protest to League of Nations
Berlin.—The Syrian colony in Germany has filed a protest with the League of Nations against the barbarism and human slaughter in Syria.

Which France, as well as the League of Nations is "unjustifiable." The protest says the league has conferred upon France an "unjustified and unjust mandate."

P.C. Pioneer Dead
Vancouver.—Stephen T. Hall, 73, a British Columbia pioneer who held the post of captain and postmaster at 150 Mile House in the Cariboo district in the days of the gold rush, died recently. He was born in Flat-Head, Mont. A. C. Foster, of Glenhead, Alta., is his daughter.

Ontario's Seaplane Stage Manoeuvre
Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—Sixteen seaplanes of the Ontario Air Service on Oct. 31, flew in formation over the city, giving a series of manoeuvres in the presence of a number of distinguished visitors, including Hon. James Lyons, minister of lands and forests, in whose department the air service is included.

Schooner Brought From Arctic By Eskimos

Crew Was Very Proficient and Experiment Proves Successful

Montreal.—Unique in the annals of Arctic navigation is the bringing down from Chesterfield Inlet, bordering on the 64th degree to Liverpool, N.S., a distance of nearly 3,000 miles, of a northern trading schooner manned by full blooded Eskimos. The schooner, named Hoville, is a fur trading craft belonging to Revillon Freres, of Montreal.

It was built in 1923 and since then has plied the Arctic waters north and west of Chesterfield Inlet.

To overhaul the vessel it was necessary to bring it to civilization to St. John's, N.S. In charge of Captain W. H. Robertson, a Newfoundland, and with C. J. King, Montreal, as engineer, the vessel left on August 1 with a crew of four Eskimos.

Taking the Hudson Rains route, the schooner ploughed its way through fierce gales. The whole journey was a serious undertaking.

After three weeks' time, the Jean Bevilion arrived at Liverpool, N.S., the captain, engineer and crew thankful that the voyage was nearly at an end. The crew is stated to have been very proficient and the experiment proved successful.

It has never before been thought advisable to take Eskimos out of their own sphere, but this has proved that the feat can be done.

Big Liner Battered By Waves

Gigantic Ship Encounters the Worst Storm in Its Career

Chesterburg, France.—Fifty or more passengers landed from the steamship Berengaria with bandaged heads, arms in splints or sprained legs. They had received these injuries on the voyage from New York in the most terrific storm, in the captain's estimation, the ship had ever encountered in her ocean career.

The storm ran mountain high. One terrific wave caused the ship to stand on end, and such passengers and members of the crew as happened to be on deck were thrown violently off their feet.

The commander of the Berengaria said that in all his 32 years at sea he never had seen weather equal to that culminating the tempest of Saturday.

F. B. Evans, who crowned a career of 15 years of prospecting by the discovery, is a delegate. The ore is used in fireworks, photography and many medicines. Other products include potash and aluminum and several rare ores, including tantalite, allied to the tungsten group, and used for dental instruments.

U.S. DESTROYERS ARE ORDERED TO LEAVE FOR SYRIA

Alexandria, Egypt.—United States destroyers which had been lying here, awaiting orders have left hurriedly for Beirut, Syria.

Paris.—The French losses in the recent Danubius troubles according to official figures reaching Paris, were 1,000 killed and 2,000 wounded. The insured lost 200 killed. (This compares with previous unofficial reports setting the deaths in the thousands.)

In addition, the dispatches say, the insured lost 50 Armenians and 300 Tripolitans. The damage property is estimated at $1,125,000.

The reports emphasize the fact that no Europeans were wounded or hurt in any way.

The official account declared the trouble started on the night of October 18, when bandit gangs which had been operating in the outskirts entered the native quarters of the city.

Followed by the lower classes they overpowered the police and menaced European quarters.

To Make Medical Survey

Would Entire a Constant Supply of Practitioners For Canada

Montreal.—Many prominent medical men from various parts of Canada attended the fall meeting of the executive committee of the Canadian Medical Association. The committee decided to make a medical survey of the entire Dominion with a view to establishing the distribution of the medical profession. Coupled with this, was a decision to make a compilation of records of the annual supply of physicians through the universities. In order to ensure a constant and adequate number of practitioners for all Canada.

Long Flight Of Mallard

Deck Released in Missouri Is Shot Near Qu Appelle

Regina.—Five months ago, T. A. Mussemann, of Quincy, Illinois, caught a fine adult mallard duck, branded it with a leg iron and released it at Stouhy Lake, Missouri.

Last month, R. W. Allen, the assistant city engineer, shot the same duck near Qu Appelle, took off the ring sent it to the department of national parks at Ottawa. Now he has received the thanks of the United States department of agriculture, and another incident in the compiling of the natural history of the North American continent was closed.

FRANCE TO TAKE STRONG STAND ON DISARMAMENT

London.—Now that security is in a fair way for settlement by the League pact, the French are taking the lead in preparations for a disarmament conference, which will be called at Geneva under the auspices of the League of Nations early next year. They are impelled in this course by two motives, the strongest of which is financial. The second motive is the growing revolt of young Frenchmen against conscription. The French proposing to the conference authorized by the league to discuss the following points:

1.—A study of all military, economic or other conditions by which the power for war of any country can be determined. This means the French will place a control on all military forces of any state unconditionally under the league.

2.—A study of the relative positions of the various countries, with the right to indicate how each power can be compensated for the inequalities of the present heavy armaments in case of sudden aggression. This means that the French are ready to throw into the league melting pot the disarmament conditions of the Versailles treaty.

3.—The establishment of a principle which would prevent any state from maintaining armaments superior to those which the league could bring to bear against it. In case it broke the league covenant. By this France would accept delimitation of its own armed forces by the league.

4.—A decision to be taken before February 1, 1928, as to whether or not the French desire immediate disarmament.

Predict Potato Shortage

Unfavorable Weather Injures Crop of Potatoes in Many Sections

Winnipeg.—Early frosts and generally unfavorable weather have brought havoc to the potato crop in Manitoba, and prices are hitting peak records. The potato price is now $1.50 a bushel and it is possible that the 12 mark will soon be reached.

Thousands of bushels of potatoes have been left in the ground, while earlier in the season heavy shipments were made to United States consumers. In the Dakota and today an acute shortage exists in this province. Importation will be necessary to fill the local requirements.

Two Stores in Alberta Change Sales Policy

W.E. Cain, of Brooks, Stops Credit System—Walton's of Wainwright—Tries Double Method in the Same Store.

On October 1st W. E. Cain of Brooks, came out frankly in a three column advertisement in the Brooks' Bulletin, which stated his position as a merchant most emphatically.

Mr. Cain first of all stated he was going on a cash basis. "We find that there is a tremendous amount of cash going out of town to the cash stores," he said, "and in order to get our share of this money and keep it at home, we intend to put our prices where it will mean a loss to the man who buys out of town."

He continues in his ad. along these lines, "But in order to compete with these cash stores we have to make it a cash transaction with small profit and quick turnover. You can't buy at the right prices and buy on a credit system. The expense of bookkeeping and running a credit system with the usual percentage of credit losses, costs too much money and somebody is paying for it."

The cash store is growing in popularity today everywhere and the majority of customers are better satisfied with the cash trading system. Price, price, price, is what people are calling for all the time, and Mr. Cain is going to give it to them, but he is changing his method of doing business first. When prices are compared though, customers decide in favor of the cash system, because after all under the credit system somebody must pay for the losses that are unavoidably sustained.

Two Stores in One!

One of the most unusual actions of a storekeeper was that announced recently by Walton's grocery of Wainwright. "In future the Walton's grocery store will be operated as two stores. One counter carrying on business as usual as a service grocery with monthly accounts, delivery, etc., the other counter will do a cash and carry competitive business."

Did the reader ever hear of anything like this before? Two counters, one on each side of the store, with two distinct prices for the same goods!

Mr. Walton is brave if nothing else. He quite sincerely states that prices of all goods on the cash and carry counter have been reduced to suit this method of doing business. The quality of the goods is just the same as usual, and nothing but high quality standard products will be offered. The price of all goods is clearly marked, so that the customers can look over the stock and choose their requirements. However, with the exception of flour and sugar, they deliver from their cash and carry counter all purchases of $3.00 and over free; other deliveries are as usual, though.

In Lighter Vein

"Before we were married, Henry," said the young wife reproachfully, "you always gave me the most beautiful Christmas presents. Do you remember?"
"Sure," said Henry cheerfully: "but, my dear, did you ever hear of a fisherman giving bait to a fish after he had caught it?"—Maritime Merchant.

Tourist—Bother! We've climbed to the top of this mountain to see the view and we've forgotten the glasses.

Scottish Guide—Och! Never mind, there's naeboddy about. We can just tak' it out o' the bottle.

Old Lady—Son, can you direct me to a bank?

Boy—Yesum, for a quarter Old Lady—Isn't that mighty high pay, my boy?

Boy—No ma'am, not for a bank director.

Two London taxi drivers were glaring at each other. "Now, what's the matter with you?" demanded one. "Nothing's the matter with me." "You gave me a nasty look," persisted the first. "Well," responded the other, "now you mention it, I see that you certainly 'ave a nasty look, but I didn't give it to you."

Speaking about "holding on" Consider the postage stamp. It sticks to one thing until it gets there.

One of the essential things you can't say with flowers is: "Sit down in front."

Beet Harvest Almost Completed

Almost one hundred per cent of the beet crop in the sugar beet areas of Southern Alberta were harvested before being damaged by the severe cold weather, and the new factory is having a very satisfactory run. The yield of beets has been very high, reaching in some cases 18 tons to the acre, and the percentage of sugar is satisfactory, although lowered somewhat by unfavorable weather conditions. The sugar factory will reach its capacity run in a few days.
